Audit Report Opinions - What They Mean

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES Cost or Pricing Data

The auditor's opinion on submitted cost or pricing data generally can be categorized in one of the following three areas:

- Completely Acceptable (Adequate)
- Generally Acceptable Except For Some Minor Deficiency (Inadequate In Part)
- Unacceptable (Not Adequate)

Opinions Address the Adequacy of Proposal as a Basis for Negotiation of a Fair and Reasonable Price.

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES

FAR, Part 15 is often used in determining if the submitted data is adequate as the basis for negotiation of a fair and reasonable price. Additionally, the proposal may be in various degrees of compliance with promulgated Cost Accounting Standards or FAR, Part 31. For reporting purposes, these include:

- No Instances
- Insignificant Instances
- Significant Instances Of Noncompliance

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES No Instances of Noncompliance

In our opinion, the offeror has submitted adequate cost or pricing data. The proposal was prepared in accordance with applicable Cost Accounting Standards and appropriate provisions of FAR and the DoD FAR Supplement. Therefore, we consider the proposal to be acceptable as a basis for negotiation of a fair and reasonable price.

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES Insignificant Instances

In our opinion, the offeror has submitted adequate cost or pricing data. The proposal was not prepared in all respects in accordance with applicable Cost Accounting Standards and appropriate provisions of FAR and the DoD FAR Supplement. However, as discussed on page 12, Exhibit A, Note 4, the impact of the noncompliances is considered relatively insignificant. Because the FAR and/or CAS noncompliances are considered insignificant, we believe that the proposal is an acceptable basis for negotiation of a fair and reasonable price.

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES Significant Instances

In our opinion, the offeror has submitted adequate cost or pricing data. The proposal was not prepared in all respects in accordance with applicable Cost Accounting Standards and appropriate provisions of FAR and the DoD FAR Supplement (see comments on page 12, Exhibit A, Note 4. Because the FAR and/or CAS noncompliances are considered significant, we do not believe the proposal is an acceptable basis for negotiation of a fair and reasonable price, as discussed with Mr. Bill Jones by Mr. Ray Hillis of our office on March 30, 2002 and as confirmed in our letter to you dated March 30, 2002. At your request, we have, nevertheless, evaluated the proposal to the extent possible in the circumstances.

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES Disclaimer of Opinion

Due to (list of reasons identified on next slide), we were not able to obtain sufficient competent evidential matter on which to base an opinion on the proposal as a whole (or the specific cost element to be reviewed). The time that was provided for performance of the audit did not allow us to apply auditing procedures to satisfy ourselves as to the acceptability of the contractor's proposal. The scope of our work was not sufficient to enable us to express, and we do not express an opinion on the contractor's proposal and its acceptability as a basis for negotiation of a fair and reasonable price as discussed with Mr. Bill Jones by Mr. Ray Hillis of our office on March 30, 2002 and as confirmed in our letter to you dated March 30, 2002.

AUDIT OPINION EXAMPLES Disclaimer of Opinion

A disclaimer of opinion may be used when:

- Imposed time constraints allow only a portion of the cost or pricing data to be reviewed.
- Unresolved costs are due to the nonreceipt of assist audit reports covering the proposed subcontract costs.
- Nonreceipt of technical evaluation reports
- The prime contractor's proposal is evaluated through application of agreed-upon procedures, including cost realism analyses.

Requesting Audits

Prime Contracts - Any special concerns that need to be addressed by the auditors should be specifically identified in the request. If there are special concerns, it often helps to call and discuss them with the DCAA auditor prior to issuing the request for audit.

Requesting Audits

Subcontracts - If any subcontracts need to be audited, it will save time if the PCO/ACO sends a copy of the audit request directly to the DCAA subcontract auditor.

Requesting Audits

Preparing the Request - The request should include:

- (Sub)contractor's proposal or name of person providing it;
- Information on technical evaluations, especially the name of the contact at the office doing the evaluation;
- And the name of a contact at your office.
- The prime contract audit request should identify any subcontract audits that have been requested.

Requesting Audits

Send the Request - Mail, e-mail, or telefax the request to the branch or resident office.

If urgent, call the DCAA office that will perform the audit.

FLA can assist you with audit requests.
